SUMMARY

I am a hardworking and passionate individual with a great sense of leadership, dedication and responsibility. I bring a dynamic energy to the web development field. My enthusiasm as a self-starter is reflected in my proactive approach to contributing effectively to team projects. Throughout my web development internship, I not only showcased my technical prowess in front-end development using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript but also took on leadership roles within the team. Whether it was resolving complex bugs to ensure seamless website functionality or actively participating in cross-functional collaboration, I consistently demonstrated my commitment to excellence.
